H. L. Goodwin, PARKS pleasure in informing the public that he has returned to his native land, and has taken up his abode at C. A. Clarke, adjoining the Telegraph Office, and that he would be pleased to wait on those wishing perfect likenesses of themselves or friends, he is confident he will be able to place the most artistic and in any kind of picture they may desire, from a life-size portrait to the smallest Daguerresotype, or Ambrotype. Also, Daguerresotypes of deceased persons enlarged to the size of Life and Colored in Oil and satisfaction given.
 I am also prepared to make those of Photography, the Daguerresotype, which is truly the most durable small picture yet produced.
 The Daguerresotype, as it is called, is acknowledged by all to be the most beautiful style of Photography picture ever presented to the public. In brilliancy of tone and color, and in the clearness, correctness, richness, and durability, it is far superior to the best miniature on ivory.

Call and enlist—corner Eighth and Main.

Rally for the war—corner Eighth and Main.

Eleven dollars per month—corner Eighth and Main.

Recruiting office—corner Eighth and Main.

We find each of the foregoing notices scattered all over the columns of the Louisville Democrat of yesterday. We reproduce these advertisements gratis, charging Lincoln's government nothing for the publication. And for the information of whom it concerns, we add, that "camp Joe Holt" is the camp on the Indiana side of the Ohio river, near Louisville, to which the Federal troops "registered" in Louisville for service under Gen.
Rousseau, are sent. And it seems from the following advertisement in the same paper that there is another "corner," besides the everlasting "corner Eighth and Main," namely, "corner Shelby and Market," at which Rousseau's recruiting operations are carried on; and it may be, every "corner" in the city of Louisville is a registering or recruiting office:

WANTED.

25 ABLE-BODIED MEN, TO JOIN GEN. ROUS-SEAU'S brigade. Pay $11 to $21, per month, board and clothing included. Call soon and get first choice. Full particulars given by applying at the recruiting office, corner Shelby and Market streets, t. JOHN L. TREANOR Capt. H. G.

And in the "Anzeiger," a German paper of the same city and date, we find an advertisement of which the following is a translation: RALLY! RALLY!! RALLY!!!

ATTENTION VOLUNTEERS!

35 able-bodied men wanted for the United States service.
Clothing, board, and physicians' attentions furnished.
Pay $11 per month.

July 4, 1861.

A few days ago, the Journal solemnly asserted that Gen. Rousseau had not recruited and would not recruit Federal troops in Louisville, and said its denial was authoritative.
Yet, in the face of its denial here are eight different subsequent advertisements proving the contrary? Is there neither truth, nor honor, nor shame, left in Louisville? Will the Journal deny that the "corner Eighth and Main" is a registering or recruiting station to fill up Rousseau's brigade? Can it draw any practical distinction between registering and recruiting troops, so far as either operation affects the neutrality of Kentucky? Why don't the Lincoln organs of Louisville come out boldly and assume the ground that Lincoln does not recognize or respect Kentucky neutrality, and as boldly defend him for disregarding it? Those organs have been some time drifting towards that ground, and we believe they mean hereafter to occupy it.

Can anybody tell what so many leading secessionists are visiting Frankfort for?
Almost every day and night there is a concourse of them at the Governor's house or at the Executive office. Undoubtedly they have got a disunion egg which they are trying to warm to life, but it is probably broken or addled.—Loc. Journal, July 4.

We copy the above as a new sample of our contemporary's theory and practice of respectable journalism. "Almost every day and night," we can assure the Journal, with absolute verity, there is a concourse of Union men, as they call themselves, Lincolnite sub-missionists in fact, at the Governor's house or at the Executive office. We can scarcely recollect a day at the Executive office, or a night at the Governor's house, of the days and nights when we have been at either place, on which we have not found Union men with His Excellency. It would be a very decent thing on our part, a signal display of respectable journalism, to insinuate that such citizens as call themselves Union men, visit the Governor with added-egg Union schemes! Every decent citizen has a right to visit the Governor on business at his office, or socially at his house; and it is a gross breach of propriety and good breeding for any prying spy to report, or any newspaper to publish, the names of such visitors. It is to the last degree an impertinent and indecorous practice, wholly inadmissible among gentlemen of respectable breeding and character.

The Right of Petition.

Let every reader ponder on the article which we copy from the New York Journal of Commerce, developing an outrageous assault upon the right of petition by Lincoln's underlings. A government under which this sacred right is suppressed is a despotism more sullen than that of Turkey. The Czar of Russia would be ashamed to permit such tyranny in his dominions; and if any of his officials should obstruct his subjects in their efforts respectfully to address his majesty, he would visit them with his sternest displeasure, perhaps exile them to Siberia. But this glorious bulwark of human liberty, the right of speech, the right of publication through the press, the right of the people peaceably to assemble and petition the government for redress of grievances, sacredly guaranteed by the Constitution, is set at naught by order of the perjured Usurper. This is in keeping with that other act of stupendous despotism, the suppression of the writ of habeas corpus. How long will a free and brave people endure such intolerable tyranny? Will the Lincoln organs in Kentucky dare defend such acts?

We copy the following advertisement from the Louisville Democrat. We charge the parties benefitted nothing for insertion in our columns. Our readers will infer from it, as we do, that the Clubs addressed are secret associations for political objects, no doubt drilled in the use of the muskets lawlessly embroidered from the National Armories and law-lessly distributed to picked, pledged, and sworn partisans. The day is coming, in our opinion, when all the recipients of Lincoln's guns, who are not devoid of shame, will atone for their wicked conspiracy by voluntarily delivering the arms to the keeper of the State Arsenal.

Notice to Union Clubs of Kentucky!

THE OFFICERS OF THE VARIOUS COUNTY-Seat Union Clubs are requested to ascertain and report immediately, in accordance with Circular to Officers:
1st. The number of Union Clubs in county.
2d. The names of Officers of each Club.
3d. Name of Post-office of each Presiding Officer.
4th. The strength of each Club in the county.
On receiving reports as indicated, information of importance will be communicated to each Club in the State.
By Order of the Executive Committee of Louisville Central Club.

Let somebody try to answer us one question. Why is it that the Nashville Directors of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, after acquiescing with the utmost alacrity in the orders of the Confederate States Government for embargoing the great Southern staples out of Kentucky, come here, and, by uniting with the secessionists in the Louisville Directory, get a vote adopted to set at defiance the orders of the United States Government for the embargoing of our produce out of Tennessee?—Loc. Jour., 4th.

We think the answer called for above should be rendered by the Directors alluded to, if by anybody.

But we make another quotation from the Journal:

"We are struck with mingled amazement and indignation. The policy announced in the proclamation, deserves the unequalled condemnation of every American citizen. It is unworthy not merely of a statesman, but of a man. It is a policy utterly hairbrained and rueless. If Mr. Lincoln contemplated this policy in the inaugural address, he is a guilty dissembler; if he has conceived it under the excitement raised by the seizure of Fort Sumter, he is a guilty Hotspur. In either case he is miserably unfit for the exalted position in which the enemies of the country have placed him. Let the people instantly take him and his Administration into their own hands if they would rescue the land from bloodshed, and the Union from sudden and irretrievable destruction."

Now will the Journal be good enough to answer us why, after giving utterance to the eloquent sentiments above, it has since turned round and become the advocate of the coercive policy of the Lincoln usurpation? Does not the Journal know that the blockade of the Nashville railroad is part and parcel of Lincoln's war measures against the South, so indignantly denounced by it in April? There must be a significant reason for a change so extraordinary and unaccountable—if the public could only find it out. Will the Journal tell?

Martial Law Supreme over the Civil.

The civil authority of Baltimore has been extinguished, and military rule established in its stead. The police force of the city has been expelled, the city marshal captured and imprisoned in Fort McHenry, and a provost marshal (a military Governor) appointed to rule the conquered city. All this is done by order of the Usurper, Abe Lincoln, through his military subordinates. Thus, one by one, are the safeguards of liberty broken down under Lincoln's remorseless despotism—habeas corpus—right of petition—supremacy of civil law—all destroyed; and yet bare Kentuckians are counselled to submit passively to such tyranny! The future historian will dwell with humiliation on the degeneracy and im-becility which unresistingly submitted to such intolerable and degrading tyranny—that is, if history will deign to recognize such a people as worthy of her pen.

Gov. Magoffin and Brigadier-General Crittenden reviewed a Battalion of Col. Hanson's 1st Regiment of State Guards at Camp Alexander, in Woodford county, on the 4th inst.

The troops made a very fine appearance, and performed their drill evolutions with great perfection. The State could have no more faithful and effective forces for her defence. At the dress parade in the evening, the Battalion was drilled in the most brilliant style by Col. Hunt, of the 2d Regiment. The camp was visited on that day by a great crowd of ladies and gentlemen, and the "spread out" did honor to Kentucky's ancient character for liberal hospitality. Col. Hanson's heart is in his service, and he is perfecting a Regiment of soldiers worthy of Kentucky, of which he is proud and which is proud of him.

FRANCE BUYING VIRGINIA TOBACCO—SIGNIFICANT FACT.

We learn from the Richmond Examiner that the agent of the French Government, now in Richmond, is about to buy tobacco there. It is said he will commence in the course of a few days. Independent of this being good news to the planters, there is an important significance in this action of this agent. It is well known that tobacco is an article of monopoly with the French Government. The question naturally arises, then, why would that Government authorize the purchase of tobacco if the blockade is to be recognized and continued? Would France purchase that which she cannot receive? If this be true, as stated, it is very encouraging to Virginia planters and a disagreeable hint to the Lincoln administration.

E. F. Burnes, Esq., is the States Rights candidate for the House of Representatives in Owen county.

A distinguished gentleman of that county writes us:

"Mr. Burnes will be a decided acquisition to the Legislative body. He is a man of decided ability and sterling virtue—a good lawyer and a handsome debater."

It is perfectly plain, from the remarks of the Louisville Journal and Democrat, on the resolution of the Railroad Directors to carry freight without the permit of the Surveyor that the notion which those Lincoln organs have of Kentucky neutrality, is unconditional submission to whatever war measures the Usurper may choose to enforce against this State?

Lewis E. Harvie, Esq., has received and accepted the appointment of Aid-de-Camp to Brigadier General Thomas L. Crittenden First Brigade Kentucky State Guards.

How the Wheeling Convention was Moved.

The Virginia Weekly Star, published at Morgantown, Western Virginia, does not like the action of the late convention at Wheeling. He says:

"But our object in writing this article is to expose the secret power which has controlled both these Wheeling Conventions, and we shall proceed to the task. We thank our fortunes that we were not a member of this Convention. If we had been, we presume we should have succumbed to the majority, being ignorant of the power behind the throne. But having been in the city of New York with our eyes and ears open for nearly a month, we at last discovered the monster, and will be thereby enabled to do some service to the people of Western Virginia. There are perhaps twenty millions of dollars of Virginia Bonds owned in New York. These bond holders know that this war is going to destroy Eastern Virginia, and that the burden of the debt will have to come off the West. Hence they are opposed to a division of the State, and in secret concoct a plan to prevent it.
They persuade some of the members of the Cabinet that it would be inconsistent for the Administration to acknowledge Western Virginia, and they, not knowing or caring specially for our interests, fall into the snare.
Soon the newspapers of New York, influenced through the same channel, take up the cudgel, then all the country papers follow suit, and public opinion is satisfied that it would be inconsistent for the Administration to acknowledge the independence of Western Virginia, as it would be acknowledging the right of secession. The Wheeling Intelligencer and the Wellsburg Herald, and other papers in this section, yield to the force of opinion. These bond holders have their agents at Wheeling, and had them at the last Convention. The most influential members take up the cry. Carlie, who was the champion of New Virginia, raises the warwhoop for the old hulk. The mountain delegates fight for the new State, but eventually yield. They are told that the Administration wants us to claim to be the whole State, and if we insult the Administration its forces will be withdrawn from this section and the secessionists will eat us up. In this manner their fears are worked upon, and eventually the Convention is almost unanimous in claiming to be Old Virginia."

That, says the Star, is the way it was done, and the effect of it to assume the State debt of fifty millions of dollars. The bond-holders played a sharp game and won. The people of Western Virginia who are the dupes will have to foot the bill.

MOVEMENTS IN ARKANSAS—PROCLAMATION OF GEN. BEN. McCULLOCH.

The Memphis Appeal, of Tuesday, publishes the following proclamation of Ben. McCulloch to the people of Arkansas, to which the Appeal suggests that a portion of the organized forces of West Tennessee, the gallant volunteers, might respond by a "forward movement" in answer to the call of Arkansas to aid Missouri:

PROCLAMATION OF BRIGADIER-GENERAL BEN. McCULLOCH—Citizens of Arkansas:

To defend your frontier, troops of Missouri are falling back upon you. If they are not sustained your State will be invaded, and your homes desolated. All that can arm themselves will rendezvous at Fayetteville, where they will await further orders. All those who have arms of the State will march to the scene of action, or give their arms to those who will not desert their country in the hour of danger. All organized companies, whether cavalry or infantry, will report at Fayetteville, and be at once formed into Regiments and Battalions. The necessary subsistence stores will be forwarded from this post. Rally, promptly, then, citizens of Arkansas, and let us drive these Northern hordes back from whence they came.

[Signed] BEN. McCULLOCH,
Brigadier-General.

From Washington.

[Special Dispatch to the Cincinnati Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, July 4.

Galusha A. Grow, of Pennsylvania, was elected Speaker of the House of Representatives. After the first ballot, Gen. Blair withdrew his name.

There was such delay in the organization of the House, that the President did not send in his Message, though it has been in type two days.

The election of Mr. Grow gives much satisfaction, and owing to the prompt withdrawal of Mr. Blair, the contest was inanimate.

Mr. Etheridge, of Tennessee, was elected Clerk, in the place of Mr. Forney. The latter made desperate efforts to be retained. In consequence of his failure, he will run for Secretary of the Senate.

It is said on the street that Vallandigham, the rebel sympathizer from Ohio, asserts that Jeff. Davis' Government is willing to make a compromise.

Breckinridge, Powell, Polk, and Bayard were in their seats to-day, attentive observers of the proceedings of the Senate—afterward visiting the House, and listening to the proceedings there. It is understood they will take no active part in the legislation of Congress.

The President's message is in type at the Government printing office. It makes a sixteen page pamphlet, equal to four columns of the Gazette. It will be delivered to-morrow.
It is simply a vigorous war paper, with emphatic assurances of the strength of the Government at home and abroad.

Applications for office under Congress are very numerous and pressing. A large number of the applicants are from the West. Lucas of Illinois, and King of Minnesota, are up for the postmastership of the Territories.

A good feeling prevails among all Senators and members, and the session is destined to be an energetic and active one.

"WHAT'S TO BECOME OF MY REVENUES?"

As the expense of the United States Government is now going on, it amounts to one million two hundred thousand dollars per day.

At this rate the expenses will amount to:

For one week.....$ 8,480,000

For one month.....36,000,000

For three months.....108,000,000

For one year.....428,000,000

For five years.....2,140,000,000

These figures make a very encouraging looking glass.

There is no doubt that while Rousseau is recruiting Dutch in Louisville for Lincoln's coercive army, many of the finest young men of Kentucky are migrating to the Confederate States, with the intention of joining the Confederate army in Tennessee and Virginia.

William Biggs and William C. Grier are candidates for the Senate in the Greenup district.

John Warnick is a candidate for the House of Representatives in Greenup county.

MUSQUITO BARS CONTRABAND.—A merchant of this place recently purchased a lot of musquito bars in Louisville, but the delectable Collector there, Cotton, refused to permit their transportation over the Louisville and Nashville railroad. They are contraband of war.—Nashville Banner.

Questions in the Rule of Three.

The New York Daily News, which still preserves its independence, propounds the following stunning questions in its issue of June 19:

"If it required seven years, in the times of George III., to wage war for the subjugation of three millions of white, free born Americans, how long will it take for Abraham Lincoln's Government to get through with "subjugating" eight millions of the same sort of people?"

If the British Government incurred a national debt of $500,000,000, or $2,500,000,000, in vainly endeavoring to subjugate three millions of people, how much will it now cost the Federal Government to try the same experiment, to their own satisfaction, upon eight millions?

If the people of the Northern States paid about $29,000,000 per annum towards the support of the Federal Government when its total expenses were $40,000,000, how much will they have to pay when it is placed on a new footing, when all the Southern States have seceded, and when the total expenses are to be about $400,000,000?

If the Federal Government, since first calling out troops, by proclamation of April 15—two months since—has only been able to advance its army, at the most, twelve to twenty miles within the boundaries of the State of Virginia, how long will it take it to complete the "subjugation" of the whole of the eleven Confederate States?

If it required only two months of preparation for war under a Black Republican Government to reduce the United States six per cent. stocks from par value to 84 per cent., how low will they have fallen by the expiration of the first year of actual hostilities.

If three months of Abolitionist ascendancy at Washington have cost the North thus much, how much will four years of such an Administration cost?

Free Speech and Free Government at Washington.

The Cincinnati Gazette has earned the favor of the King by truckling to the wishes, and bending the "supple hinges of the knee" at the bidding of its master; and its leading editor has, we believe, been appointed to a high office as an evidence of that favor.

That paper yesterday had an elaborate leading editorial in favor of the expulsion of Breckinridge, Powell, and Bright from the Senate, and Vallandigham, Burnett, Wood, &c., from the House, for their treason in denouncing the usurpations of Mr. Lincoln.

It threatens the Congress, if they should not eject such traitors as oppose this suicidal and unconstitutional war, with the fate of the Long Parliament.

This is the temper of the leading spirits about Washington, as indicated plainly in the article from the New York Tribune in reference to Mr. Crittenden, which we republished some time since, and as exhibited in other quarters.

It is related of Pompey, that when the Mamertines refused to appear before his military tribunal, or to acknowledge his jurisdiction, alleging that they stood excused by an ancient privilege granted them by the Romans, he answered: "Will you never have done with citing laws and privileges to men who wear swords?"

It looks as if the vast army, unconstitutionally organized by Lincoln, were disposed to make the same reply to those who cite laws and privileges against their despotism, and that whether it be plain John Merryman, or the representatives of sovereign States, the will of the "men who wear swords" is to be supreme.

It is a crime in New York to circulate petitions praying for peace; it will be deemed a crime in Washington to oppose violations of the Constitution and resist the usurpation of the Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy.—Loc. Jour., July 6th.

ARRIVAL OF THE HON. JOHN J. CRITTENDEN.

Considerable curiosity was felt here yesterday to see and hear the Hon. John J.
Crittenden, and by the time the evening train arrived at the depot the streets leading to it were crowded with people. Mr. Crittenden was conducted to an open carriage, in waiting, by John W. Fennell, Esq., who, in a few remarks, tendered him a welcome on behalf of the city. The venerable statesman arose to his feet in the vehicle and returned thanks for this manifestation of friendship from his old friends in Covington. He alluded to the present unhappy condition of the country, which he could see no way at present to remedy.

He could make no promises as to his course, but he would do the best he could, under the circumstances, for old Kentucky and the Union. He was proud of Kentucky, of her bravery, her fidelity, and the good sense of her people. He thought that he was done with public life, but his country had called him, and he felt bound to obey, but he hoped too much would not be expected from him. Again thanking the citizens, the great compromiser took his seat and the carriage rolled off, accompanied by a detachment of the Grays, the Madera Guards and the Shot Gun Company, under Capt. Shinkler.

A strict adherence to truth compels us to state, that the reputation of John J. Crittenden, on his way to the National Capital, to take his seat in what will prove, perhaps, the most interesting assembly of Congress, was extremely tame, not to say cold. His remarks were received with even more coldness; for, personally, Mr. Crittenden has a host of warm friends in this city; but his political course is too lukewarm for the unconditional Union people of this latitude.

Cincinnati Gazette, July 3d.

THE LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE RAIL-ROAD.—As this thoroughfare has been for some time the only direct outlet for shipments consigned to the Southern Confederacy, and as efforts have been made to render the blockade effectual, much interest is felt here and elsewhere as to the operations of the road.

Our new Collector of the Port, about a fortnight ago, positively prohibited all shipments to the South over the road, and the directory of the road submitted to the order apparently in good faith. Subsequently a case was agreed upon between the shipping merchants and railroad company which was designed to effectually test the legality of the blockade, and the suit was formally brought before his honor Judge Muir, of the Jefferson Circuit Court. The argument in the case was concluded by the counsel yesterday and the question submitted to the court, Judge Muir withholding his decision for the present. Yesterday, however, there was a convocation of the directors, including those from Tennessee, who hold the controlling influence at present, and it was ordered by them that through freights should be received at this city and forwarded, as if no blockade had been ordered, until such time as the legality or illegality of the blockade should be sustained by the courts. Accordingly large consignments were sent down to the depot and duly received. In the meantime Collector Cotton entered a protest against the action of the directors, and avowed his intention to seize all goods shipped for the South. In obedience to the protest and threat of the Collector many shippers withdrew their goods, while others, who are loyal to the Government, declined to avail themselves of the offer to make shipments in violation of an order from the Federal authorities. W. D. Gallagher, Esq., the newly appointed officer of customs for the South and West, arrived in the city yesterday. In all probability he is invested with power to act promptly and decisively in the premises.

Loc. Jour., 4th.

HOW THINGS HAVE PASSED AWAY.—The

intelligent correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer, writing from Washington, says that Hon. N. P. Banks, standing recently upon Arlington Heights, in company with a number of civil and military dignitaries, when he waved his hand towards Washington, and remarked:

"This is the end of this Government as it now exists. There will be reconstruction on different principles." With the pride of the Persian autocrat who looked upon his Capitol and exclaimed, "This is great Babylon which I have built," do the minions of the latter day despotism survey the work which they have accomplished, and glory in the exhibition of their shame?"

Truly the end has come. Old laws, revered as the memory of iron hearted barons on the field of Runnymede, have passed away.
The bulwarks of civil liberty erected by sturdy yeomen around the scaffold of Charles I., and built up to the chambers of the House of Commons, have been leveled with the dust. The lines of sovereign States settled by distinct people, which fought under distinct banners, and achieved an individual independence which was never surrendered, have been erased, blotted out by a military despotism that ignores the power which warmed it into life. Indeed, old things have passed away. The whirlwind of a mobocracy has swept over the North and left it devoid of constitutional protection. The guarantees of rights are gone; bills of rights are trampled under foot; the sword of justice is stricken from her hand, and the laws of the land are placed, like the edicts of the old Roman Em-perors, so far beyond the inspection of the ruler, that the courts of justice become a reproach.—Montgomery Confederacy.

The Memphis and Nashville papers are discussing the propriety of celebrating the Fourth of July. They seem to favor it.

THE BODY OF MAJOR WINTHROP.—The Adelaide has taken to the North the body of the lamented Major Winthrop, who was killed at the battle of Great Bethel. On Tuesday morning, Lieutenant Butler, two brothers of the deceased, and Mr. James E. Weaver, under-taker, left Fortress Monroe under a flag of truce for the rebel camp at Bethel. When within a mile of that point, they were commanded to halt by the picket guard of the rebels, and their errand demanded. It was stated, and the sentry bid them to await his return, while he conveyed their request to Col. Magruder. After waiting some hours, a file of soldiers were seen approaching, bearing with them the body of Major Winthrop.
It was inclosed in an India rubber cloak, and very much decomposed.

Upon examination it was found that the Major's death had been caused by a Minie bullet wound in the breast. Col. Magruder informed the friends of the deceased that he had been buried with all the honors of war by the Confederate troops, and that they had also buried with military honors thirty of the Federal troops who had been found upon the battle field. When the body of Major Winthrop was placed in the coffin, Col. Magruder and his men removed their caps, and appeared to feel keenly the solemnity of the moment.
After the coffin had been secured, Col. Magruder and Lieutenant Butler both shook hands cordially, and before parting Col. Magruder remarked to Lieut. Butler, "We part as friends, but on the field of battle we meet as enemies." Each party then retraced their steps to their quarters.—Charleston News.

The Federal Administration, the perjured, law-breaking, usurping, despotic Administration, at Washington, is drawing the lines tighter and yet tighter on the people of neutral Kentucky.

Arms have been sent here and distributed among sworn partisans; secret societies have been organized, the members of which take an oath
